through Jesus Christ

THE AUTHORITY OF A NEW CREATION

His finished work. Your new life.
A daily walk in His victory.

NewCreationTruths.com

Begin with the risen Christ

Beloved, your life in Christ rests on a victory Jesus has accomplished. The cross, the empty tomb, His exaltation, and the gift of the Holy Spirit belong together. Through His grace you have received a new life, a new position, and a calling to represent Him.

This book develops our message, “The Authority of a New Creation.” Its central question is personal: what does Christ’s victory mean for the way you think, speak, pray, and serve today? We want you to recognise what you have received and give it expression in daily life.

Follow the Scriptures from humanity’s created purpose to the finished work of Jesus, from the cry for deliverance to freedom in the Spirit, and from Christ’s exaltation to your position in Him. Let every chapter bring your attention back to the Lord from whom your life and authority flow.

Read with your Bible open. Speak the confessions thoughtfully. Then carry the truth into a conversation, a prayer, a decision, or an act of ministry. Receive the abundance of grace and the gift of righteousness, and learn to reign in life through Jesus Christ.

The authority belongs to Jesus.
The power comes from the Spirit.
The glory belongs to God.

With love,

Receive your place. Walk in His life.

Spiritual authority is understood through Jesus Christ. Keep His person, His finished work, and your relationship with Him at the centre of your reading. The Scriptures reveal both what He has accomplished and how to walk in the life you have received.

Read the passage in context

Read the surrounding verses before turning a truth into personal confession. Notice the connection between Christ's work and the believer's response. The chapter foundations give you a path for deeper study.

Receive what grace has given

Let the Father's generosity establish your confidence. Righteousness, new-creation life, and your position in Christ are received through grace. Begin prayer with thanksgiving for what Jesus has done.

Speak in agreement with the Word

Use the confessions as a response of faith. Keep your attention on the Lord and the Scripture behind the words. Let the truth become familiar in your own heart and speech.

Put the revelation into practice

Pray in Jesus' name, walk in the Spirit, forgive, serve, and share the gospel. Authority is expressed in a life that honours the One who sends you. The seven daily readings will help you connect the teaching with home, work, relationships, and ministry.

CORE READING Matthew 28:18-20; Romans 5:12-21; Romans 6:1-14; Romans 7:15-25; Romans 8:1-17; Ephesians 1:19-23; Ephesians 2:4-10.

Why announce it after the resurrection?

“And Jesus came and spake unto them, saying, All power is given unto me in heaven and in earth.”

Matthew 28:18 · KJV

Before the cross, Jesus healed the sick, opened blind eyes, raised the dead, commanded storms, and cast out demons. He also gave His disciples authority to minister. Then, after His resurrection, He announced that all authority in heaven and earth had been given to Him.

What had changed? Jesus, the eternal Son, already possessed divine authority. Now the incarnate Son had completed His sacrifice, borne our sins, entered death, and risen victorious. He stood before His disciples as the resurrected Messiah, announcing His universal authority.

The declaration immediately leads into a commission. Because all authority belongs to Him, His disciples are to go and make disciples among the nations. His accomplished victory gives the mission its foundation.

Let that sequence establish your confidence. Your calling begins with who Jesus is and what He has done. Look to the risen Lord as you pray and serve. His authority gives weight to His commission, and His presence accompanies those He sends.

The miracles of His earthly ministry revealed the Kingdom. His death and resurrection established the new-covenant foundation upon which believers share His life and victory. This is the foundation of our message.

READ IN CONTEXT Matthew 28:16-20; Matthew 10:1; Luke 9:1-2; Philippians 2:8-11.

He said “All authority” before “Go”

Read Matthew 28:18-20 as one connected announcement. Jesus declares His authority, commissions the disciples, and promises His continuing presence. Each part gives strength to the others.

“...and, lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world. Amen.”

Matthew 28:20 | excerpt · KJV

The Church goes because Christ reigns. The gospel we carry announces the crucified and risen Lord. We serve in His name, teach His words, and help people become His disciples.

The Greek word translated “power” in Matthew 28:18 is exousia, commonly expressing authority or the right to act. Luke 9:1 shows Jesus giving His disciples both power and authority before the cross. After His finished work, believers are brought into the new-creation life of the risen Christ.

Carry this truth into an ordinary act of witness. Pray for a person, offer encouragement from Scripture, or invite someone to read a Gospel with you. Your confidence can begin with the Lord who commissioned His people and promised His presence.

My confession

Jesus Christ is risen and reigning. All authority belongs to Him. I serve in His name, carry His gospel, and walk in the assurance of His presence.

PUT IT INTO PRACTICE Read Matthew 28:18-20 aloud. Pray for one person you can serve and encourage this week.

Humanity's purpose began with God

“And God said, Let us make man in our image, after our likeness: and let them have dominion...”

Genesis 1:26 | excerpt · KJV

The first words concerning humanity's purpose bring image, likeness, and dominion together. God created people to live in relationship with Him and exercise the responsibility He entrusted to them. He remained the source of their life and authority.

Read Genesis 1:26-28 slowly. Humanity receives blessing and a commission from God. Dominion begins under His lordship. The created world is to be tended through the responsibility He gives.

This foundation helps us understand the tragedy of the fall. The one created for fellowship hid from God. Through Adam's disobedience, sin entered and death spread to humanity. Romans 5 describes death reigning through the one man's offence.

Sin and death were contrary to humanity's created purpose. The person created to live before God and exercise delegated dominion now needed deliverance. Human ability could never become the source of resurrection life.

God's answer is revealed in Jesus Christ. Read the story with your attention moving toward Him. The purpose that begins with God's image and likeness finds its redemptive fulfilment in the life of the risen Lord. In Him we discover our restored identity and learn to live from it.

READ IN CONTEXT Genesis 1:26-28; Genesis 3:1-10; Romans 5:12-19; Colossians 3:9-10.

From death's reign to reigning in life

“...they which receive abundance of grace and of the gift of righteousness shall reign in life by one, Jesus Christ...”

Romans 5:17 | excerpt · KJV

Romans 5 places Adam and Christ before us. Through the one man's offence, death reigned. Through Jesus Christ, those who receive abundance of grace and the gift of righteousness reign in life. The passage draws our confidence toward the greater work of the Saviour.

Your new life is understood in relation to Him. You have received His grace. Righteousness is His gift. You belong to the One whose obedience answers Adam's disobedience and whose risen life answers the reign of death.

Let this revelation shape the way you approach responsibility. Receive the Father's wisdom, honour people made in His image, steward what has been entrusted to you, and give His goodness expression through your actions.

At home, this may mean speaking with patience and care. At work, it may mean integrity and faithful service. In ministry, it means representing Jesus with love and confidence in His name. The life you receive in Him gives purpose to the life you live each day.

My confession

I am created for fellowship with God and a life of purpose. In Christ, His image shapes my understanding and His grace establishes me. I reign in life through Jesus Christ.

PUT IT INTO PRACTICE Read Romans 5:15-21. Bring one responsibility before the Father and take a step that reflects His wisdom and love.

“Who shall deliver me?”

“O wretched man that I am! who shall deliver me from the body of this death?”

Romans 7:24 · KJV

Romans 7 describes the conflict between recognising what is good and finding the power to carry it out. The law reveals what is right, yet human determination cannot become the source of new life. The cry rises: “Who shall deliver me?”

Notice the direction of that question. The passage moves us toward a Deliverer. Romans 7:25 names Jesus Christ our Lord, and Romans 8 opens into freedom through the Spirit of life in Him. Read across the chapter division and hear the answer.

The language of an unwelcome intruder can help illustrate sin’s presence. An intruder does not become the rightful owner of a house by occupying it. Sin entered humanity; it was never God’s original purpose for humanity. The image points us toward the need for deliverance and the authority of the rightful Lord.

Keep the illustration connected to Scripture. Romans 7 speaks of sin dwelling and taking captive. Romans 8 announces freedom in Christ through the Spirit. Our attention belongs on the One who delivers and the life He gives.

Let Romans 7 lead you into its answer. Receive the good news of Jesus Christ and grow in your understanding of what it means to live by His Spirit.

READ IN CONTEXT Romans 7:15-25; Romans 8:1-11.

The answer is a Person

“For the law of the Spirit of life in Christ Jesus hath made me free from the law of sin and death.”

Romans 8:2 · KJV

This is the answer we want established in our hearts. The Spirit of life in Christ Jesus has made us free. Jesus brings the life human effort could never produce. Begin from His provision and let it shape your confession.

Read Romans 8:1-4 together. God acted through His Son where the law was powerless through the flesh. The passage directs us into a walk according to the Spirit. Freedom is rooted in Christ and expressed through the life of the Spirit.

When you open your Bible, give your attention to the truth of this new life. Read the whole movement from deliverance to freedom. Thank the Lord for what He has accomplished and yield your words, choices, and actions to Him.

An everyday response may begin with a simple confession before a decision: “I belong to Jesus. His Spirit dwells in me. I walk in His wisdom and give my life to righteousness.” Then act in agreement with the Word you have received.

Your confidence rests in the Deliverer. Keep returning to Him in prayer, meditation, and thanksgiving. The truth of Romans 8 gives content to your faith and direction to your daily walk.

My confession

The Spirit of life in Christ Jesus has made me free. I belong to the Deliverer. His life is in me, and I walk according to His Spirit.

PUT IT INTO PRACTICE Read Romans 8:1-4. Write a personal confession from verse 2 and carry it into one decision today.

The risen Christ gives life

“And so it is written, The first man Adam was made a living soul; the last Adam was made a quickening spirit.”

1 Corinthians 15:45 · KJV

Paul calls Christ the last Adam. The first Adam received life; the risen Christ gives life. In 1 Corinthians 15, Paul unfolds the certainty of resurrection and our relationship to the One who has conquered death.

Let this truth deepen your understanding of new creation. Jesus brings you into union with Himself. Through His finished work you receive forgiveness, righteousness, and new life. The Holy Spirit dwells in those who belong to Him.

The cross dealt with sin and its condemnation. Colossians 2 describes forgiveness, the cancellation of the record against us, and Christ’s triumph over the powers. Hebrews 2 declares His deliverance of those held in bondage through the fear of death.

Jesus entered death as the sinless One bearing our sins. He rose as the Lord whom death could no longer hold. His resurrection reveals the victory that gives the gospel its confidence and new-creation life its foundation.

Receive your identity from that risen Lord. Return to His work when you read, pray, and speak about your life. The same Jesus who announced all authority now commissions His people to carry His good news.

READ IN CONTEXT 1 Corinthians 15:20-26, 45-49; Colossians 2:13-15; Hebrews 2:14-15.

Stand in His accomplished victory

“I am he that liveth, and was dead; and, behold, I am alive for evermore...”

Revelation 1:18 | excerpt · KJV

The Lord we serve is alive for evermore. Let the reality of His resurrection shape your worship and your understanding of authority. His victory is accomplished, and your life is united with Him through grace.

Take time to read the redemption passages together. Colossians 2 shows Christ’s triumph. Hebrews 2 shows deliverance through His death. Romans 6 speaks of Christ raised from the dead, with death having no more dominion over Him. The passages direct us to one victorious Lord.

As you confess His victory, let gratitude deepen your confidence. Thank Jesus for bearing your sins, reconciling you to the Father, and bringing you into newness of life. Let your worship give Him the central place.

Then carry this assurance into service. Pray for someone in His name. Encourage a believer with Scripture. Share the gospel with a person who needs to know Him. The finished work gives content to your message and confidence to your witness.

My confession

Jesus Christ is alive for evermore. Through His finished work I have received forgiveness and new life. I stand in His victory and carry His gospel with confidence.

PUT IT INTO PRACTICE Read Colossians 2:13-15 and Romans 6:8-11. Give thanks for Christ’s work before praying for someone in His name.

Sin shall not have dominion over you

“For sin shall not have dominion over you: for ye are not under the law, but under grace.”

Romans 6:14 · KJV

The authority of new creation includes a foundational freedom: sin is no longer to reign over the believer. Romans 6 speaks of our old man crucified with Christ and calls us to reckon ourselves alive to God through Jesus Christ.

Read the passage as a connected revelation. Christ has died and risen. You belong to Him. Now yield yourself to God as one alive from the dead, and give the members of your body as instruments of righteousness. The response flows from the life you have received.

Let grace establish the way you speak about your daily walk. “I am alive to God. I belong to Jesus. My life is available for righteousness.” Carry this confession into the way you use your words, your time, and your relationships.

The Spirit leads us into a life that agrees with Christ. Galatians 5 connects walking in the Spirit with love, joy, peace, patience, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, gentleness, and self-control. These are practical expressions of His life within His people.

Begin where you are today. Give one conversation to His love, one responsibility to His wisdom, and one response to His peace. Let the truth of your freedom in Christ become visible in the way you live.

READ IN CONTEXT Romans 6:6-14; Romans 8:1-14; Galatians 5:16-25.

The Spirit who raised Jesus dwells in you

“But if the Spirit of him that raised up Jesus from the dead dwell in you, he that raised up Christ from the dead shall also quicken your mortal bodies by his Spirit that dwelleth in you.”

Romans 8:11 · KJV

The Holy Spirit is present in those who belong to Christ. Romans 8 directs us to His indwelling presence, His life, and the certainty of resurrection. The God who raised Jesus has brought His people into a living relationship with Himself.

Take time to receive the personal force of the words “dwelleth in you.” You can approach the day with an awareness of His presence. Fellowship with Him as you read Scripture, pray, and respond to the people around you.

Romans 8 describes the mind set upon the Spirit as life and peace. Give His Word your attention and allow it to renew your understanding. Let your confession flow from the truth of His indwelling life.

Before a responsibility, thank Him for His wisdom. Before a conversation, receive His peace and walk in love. In ministry, depend on His power and direction. The Spirit who dwells in you empowers a life that honours Jesus.

My confession

The Spirit of God dwells in me. His life is at work in me. I am alive to God through Jesus Christ, and my daily walk expresses His love, wisdom, and peace.

PUT IT INTO PRACTICE Read Romans 8:9-14. Thank the Holy Spirit for His presence before beginning a daily responsibility.

Read Ephesians 1 and 2 together

“And hath raised us up together, and made us sit together in heavenly places in Christ Jesus:”

Ephesians 2:6 · KJV

Ephesians 1 describes God’s mighty power at work in Christ: He raised Him from the dead and seated Him at His right hand, far above every principality, power, might, and dominion. Jesus is exalted, and the Church belongs to Him.

Then Ephesians 2 turns our attention to what God has done for us in Christ. He made us alive together with Him, raised us together, and made us sit together in the heavenly places in Christ Jesus. Read the two passages as one unfolding revelation.

Notice the repeated connection: together with Christ, in Christ. Your spiritual position is understood through union with Him. God’s rich mercy and great love are the starting point of the passage. This position is received through grace.

Let the Word teach you how to see yourself. You have been made alive with Christ. You belong to the risen Lord. The truth of your position gives confidence to your prayer and direction to the way you serve.

Spend time with these verses before speaking about authority. Allow them to deepen your understanding of Jesus’ exaltation and your belonging in Him. His lordship remains the centre of the revelation.

READ IN CONTEXT Ephesians 1:19-23; Ephesians 2:4-10.

Let your position shape your perspective

Your authority flows from Jesus Christ. You live and serve in His name as one united with Him. Let your confidence rest in His authority, His finished work, and His continuing presence.

Ephesians 2:8-10 connects grace, faith, and good works. Salvation is God's gift, and believers are His workmanship, created in Christ Jesus for good works. Your position in Him gives purpose to your daily walk.

This becomes practical when you begin to pray. Thank the Father for His mercy, your new life, and your position in Christ. Bring your request in Jesus' name, with your attention on Him. Then respond to His Word in the situation before you.

It also shapes the way you see people. You can minister from the assurance of belonging to the Father. Speak truth with grace, strengthen a believer, and lead someone toward Jesus. Let the position you have received find expression in faithful service.

Read Ephesians 1:17-23 as a prayer for understanding. Ask the Father to enlighten your heart to His power and Christ's exaltation. Then read Ephesians 2:4-10 and thank Him for what He has done for you in His Son.

My confession

I am made alive with Christ, raised with Him, and seated with Him in the heavenly places. I am God's workmanship. My confidence and authority flow from Jesus, and I serve in His name.

PUT IT INTO PRACTICE Read Ephesians 1:17-23 and 2:4-10. Turn the passages into personal thanksgiving before praying for your family.

Righteousness is His gift

“For as by one man’s disobedience many were made sinners, so by the obedience of one shall many be made righteous.”

Romans 5:19 · KJV

Romans 5 directs our attention to the obedience of Jesus Christ. The gift of righteousness rests in His work. Receive it with faith and let it establish your confidence before the Father.

Return to Romans 5:17. Those who receive abundance of grace and the gift of righteousness reign in life through Jesus Christ. Take time with the word “receive.” The passage brings the abundance of His provision before you.

Second Corinthians 5:21 declares that Jesus, who knew no sin, was made sin for us so that we might be made the righteousness of God in Him. Let those final words, “in him,” remain central to your confession.

Your daily language can give expression to this truth: “In Christ I have received righteousness as a gift. I come to the Father through Jesus. His grace establishes my life.” Begin the day with thanksgiving for His finished work.

This confidence belongs in prayer, worship, and service. Read the Word, receive His grace, and respond with a life that honours Him. His goodness becomes the foundation of your expectation and the strength of your witness.

READ IN CONTEXT Romans 5:15-21; 2 Corinthians 5:21; Hebrews 4:14-16.

A royal priesthood in everyday life

1 Peter 2:9 | excerpt · KJV

Peter describes God’s people as a royal priesthood called to show forth the praises of the One who brought them into His marvellous light. Your life has belonging, dignity, and purpose in Christ.

Carry that identity into ordinary responsibilities. Your home can be a place of prayer and gracious speech. Your work can express integrity and wisdom. Your resources can become a means of generosity. Your relationships can reveal the Father’s love.

Reigning in life through Jesus gives direction to the way you use what He has entrusted to you. Receive His grace and serve faithfully. Give time to the Word. Speak from your identity in Him. Be ready to pray for people and share the gospel.

Jesus taught that greatness among His followers is expressed through service. Let His example shape your understanding of authority. Use your words to strengthen others and your opportunities to make His goodness known.

At the end of a day, give thanks for His grace and the people you were able to serve. Return to His Word and continue learning how to express the life you have received.

My confession

I receive abundance of grace and the gift of righteousness. I belong to His royal priesthood. I reign in life through Jesus Christ and show forth His goodness through faithful service.

PUT IT INTO PRACTICE Read 1 Peter 2:9-12 and Mark 10:42-45. Choose one practical act of service that reflects Jesus today.

Empowered to represent Jesus

“But ye shall receive power, after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you: and ye shall be witnesses unto me...”

Acts 1:8 | excerpt · KJV

Jesus commissioned His disciples on the basis of His authority and instructed them to wait for the power of the Holy Spirit. His authority and the Spirit’s empowerment belong together in the mission.

The Greek word for power in Acts 1:8 is dynamis, often expressing power or ability. In Matthew 28:18, exousia speaks of authority. The words can overlap in their use, but these passages clearly connect Christ’s commission with the Spirit’s empowerment.

Read Acts with your attention on the risen Lord and His Spirit at work through His people. They proclaimed Jesus, prayed in His name, and ministered to people. God’s power accompanied the gospel, and lives were changed.

Let this pattern shape your expectation. Pray for opportunities to share Christ. Speak His Word with boldness. Pray for the sick and minister in Jesus’ name. Depend on the Holy Spirit as you serve.

Your witness can begin in an ordinary relationship. Listen to the person before you, share the good news clearly, and offer prayer. Help believers grow as disciples who know their identity and learn to minister through the Spirit’s power.

READ IN CONTEXT Matthew 28:18-20; Luke 24:46-49; Acts 1:4-8; Acts 3:1-16; Acts 4:29-31.

Carry His victory to people

Christ-given authority has a purpose: represent Him, proclaim His gospel, and serve people through His Spirit. Let love guide the way you minister and Scripture give substance to what you say.

When praying for someone who is sick, share the compassion of Jesus and pray in His name with faith. Give your attention to the person, minister with care, and give God the glory for His work. The Gospel accounts and Acts direct us to the risen Lord as the source of healing power.

When encouraging someone who needs freedom, bring the truth of Jesus' finished work and His lordship into the conversation. Read the Word together, pray in His name, and help the person become established in their life in Christ.

When discipling a believer, teach both identity and practice. Help them understand the gift of righteousness, their position in Christ, and the indwelling Spirit. Then encourage them to pray, serve, and share the gospel with others.

This is the movement of the book: from God's purpose to Christ's victory, from new-creation life to a Spirit-empowered witness. Receive what He has accomplished and carry the good news from your home to the nations.

My confession

The risen Christ has commissioned His Church. The Holy Spirit empowers me to witness and serve. I pray in Jesus' name, share His gospel, and help others grow in Him.

PUT IT INTO PRACTICE Read Acts 3:1-16 and Acts 4:29-31. Pray for boldness and an opportunity to minister to someone this week.
